ARREST IN CONNECTION WITH THEFT OF $52.00

FROM RESIDENCE OF FRANK
P. ROBERTSON LAST
MONDAY NIGHT

A CONFESSION

By Clever Bit of Detective Work
Constable and Police Get Maude Scales in Toils.

Arrested on suspicion in connection with the disappearance last Monday night of $52 in cash from the residence of Frank P. Robertson, 505 South Main street, but released the following day because of lack of evidence against her, a negro woman of many "falaises," but who, through exigencies of the occasion, is dubbed Maude Scales, was re-arrested Friday night on charges of having stolen the money, and according to Police Chief Hammond, has made a confession to this effect.

Gave Her Rope.
Although the police had no evidence against the negro woman in connection with the robbery. They were morally certain that she had had something to do with it. But before the case of justice opinions and moral considerations do not go—must be able to deliver the goods, which, in legal parlance, is evidence of the brand where no reasonable doubt exists as to the guilt or innocence of the accused.

In this instance Van Martin, constable for Magistrate B. F. Wilson, and members of the police department decided to bring into service a time-honored and homely bit of epigrammatical wisdom, to wit, "Give one plenty of rope and he will hang himself." So they decided to give Maude Scales plenty of rope, and now it appears that Maude has figuratively speaking, placed the noose about her own neck.

Bought Much Flattery.
One night last week Privates Sanders and Whitten searched the domicile of Maude Scales. They discovered several new garments of rather expensive design, and this aroused their suspicion. But Maude had not been given enough rope. While Constable Van Martin and the police rested on their guns Maude went about the job of weaving a net about herself, so it is said.

In some way the officers learned that Maude had made rather extensive purchases at a local department store. They made an investigation but found that the goods had been returned. About this time they received a "tip" that a colored woman had made considerable purchases from a ladies' store of the city. They investigated this, but at first found no evidence. The true extensive purchases had been made at this store by a negro woman, but she did not give her name as Maude Scales. She had purchased goods amounting to $35, and had left them at the store, to be delivered later. The police went a little further with the investigation and learned that the purchases in question had been made by Maude Scales, but under an assumed name, or as she would probably say, a non de plume. It was an interesting fact to note, that the woman had requested that the purchases be held there and not sent to her home.

A Sly Move.
The police are of the opinion that Maude Scales ordered the goods not sent to her house immediately for fear that the police might search her domicile and find them. In other words, they believe, she planned to wait until the "storm had blown over" before taking the goods home.

The woman was arrested Friday night and placed in the guard house. Yesterday morning she was transferred to the county jail. Her case will be handled by the county authorities, as the amount of money stolen is over $20 and constitutes grand larceny, which is not within the jurisdiction of the recorder's court.

Receives $40.
Mr. Robertson succeeded in getting back the $52 which was spent by the negro woman at the ladies' store mentioned. He recovered $5 from another source, which leaves him still $12 short of the amount stolen.

Maude Scales was a domestic at the home of Mr. Robertson and the money was taken from a bureau drawer.

Villa Troops Holding City.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Jan. 9.—Dispatches received here tonight, from the Mexican border reported the battle between Carranza and Villa forces at Saltillo, Mexico, still in progress with the Villa troops holding the city against the attacks of the Carranza army. Both sides claim an advantage as a result of the two days fighting.

PROGRAM FOR FIRST SESSION

Outlined For 71st General Assembly of South Carolina
Which Begins Tuesday.

The Intelligencer Bureau,
W. F. Caldwell.

COLUMBIA, Jan. 9.—A program of constructive legislation has been outlined for the first session of the 71st general assembly of South Carolina which begins on Tuesday at noon. Everything is in readiness for the annual meeting of the legislature, and the session which begins Tuesday is expected to prove one of the most important in recent years.

Organization of the two houses will be first perfected. Retiring Clerk James A. Hoyt will call the new house to order, and as soon as a temporary presiding officer is selected Mr. Hoyt, who is a representative from Richland, will be unanimously elected speaker. Six candidates are offering for the clerkship, J. Wilson, Gibbs and E. O. DePass of Columbia, C. A. Mays of Greenwood, H. C. Booker of Spartanburg, J. F. McGee of Batesburg, and J. W. Hamel of Kershaw. John S. Wilson is a candidate for reelection as sergeant-at-arms, and S. McG. Simkins for reelection as reading clerk. No opposition has developed to Rev. J. F. Know of Columbia for chaplain.

The holdover senators will caucus tomorrow night to select a president pro tem and make the committee assignments. The names of Senators Legrand Walker of Georgetown and Alan Johnstone of Newberry are prominently spoken of for president pro tem. It is expected that Senators Christensen of Beaufort for chairman of the finance committee, Sinkler of Charleston for chairman of the education committee, Carlisle of Spartanburg for chairman of the judiciary committee, and Appelt of Charleston for the chairmanship of the railroad committee will be reelected without opposition. M. M. Mann of St. Matthews for clerk, R. Beverley Sloan of Columbia for assistant clerk, J. Fred Schampert of Newberry for sergeant-at-arms, Rev. W. S. Stokes of Johnston for reading clerk, and Rev. C. A. Freed of Columbia for chaplain have no opposition for reelection, and will probably be unanimously selected by the caucus on Monday night.

Lieutenant Governor Charles A. Smith of Timmonsville will call the senate to order. The new senators will be sworn in and the nominations of the caucus read and elected.

New faces will predominate in the house. Only 23 of the last house are returned, but some of the members have served in former legislatures. However over two-thirds of the new house will get their first legislative experience. Prominent members of former houses who are members of the new house are T. C. Cothran and Jos. A. McCullough of Greenville and S. T. McKewen of Chester.

Less than a third of the senate will be new members. Many of those who will not return have been prominently identified with one of the other legislative branches for many years. There is one vacancy in the senate, from Chester, caused by the death of Senator P. L. Hardin. A special election to fill this vacancy will take place on Tuesday, and there are two candidates offering, A. G. Brice, who was a member of the last house, and S. T. Stokes.

The inauguration of Governor Richard I. Manning and Lieutenant Governor A. J. Bethea will take place on Tuesday week at noon. The inaugural exercises will be held in the hall of the house of representatives in the presence of the joint session of the senate and house, supreme court of the state and the people. Chief Justice Gary of the supreme court will administer the oath of office to the governor and lieutenant governor.

The capital is ready for the session of the legislature. The halls of the house and senate have been swept and prepared, and all the preliminaries gotten into shape.

The message of Governor Cole A. Blaise will be presented to both houses immediately after they organize and send a committee to notify him of the fact. The message has been written and is now in the hands of the printers.

Members have already begun dropping into Columbia and by tomorrow night practically the entire membership will be in the city.

EX-SHERIFF KING OUT FOR SARGENT-AT-ARMS

OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES AT AP-PROACHING SESSION

IS OPTIMISTIC

Has Received Assurances of Support From Many Parts of State.

W. B. King, ex-sheriff of Anderson county and former police chief of the city, is a candidate for sergeant-at-arms of the House of Representatives, a position which will be filled by the lower branch of the Legislature upon the convening of the General Assembly on Tuesday.

Mr. King stated yesterday that he entered the race at the solicitation of friends and that he had received assurances of support from friends and acquaintances and many who are not acquaintances, and that he feels he has a good chance of being elected to the position he seeks.

In his campaign for the position of sergeant-at-arms of the house, Mr. King has not traveled over the State for the purpose of consulting various persons of influence as the remuneration of the office does not warrant such. Mr. King has, however, addressed letters to members of the House and others throughout the State informing them that he is a candidate for this particular office. He has not asked any of those to pledge him their support, but merely requested them to withhold pledging themselves to the support of any one man until he could have an interview with them. Mr. King stated yesterday that he would go down to Columbia today or tomorrow in the interest of his campaign.

That Anderson's well known and popular ex-sheriff is out for this position will be of interest to his many friends throughout the county. He was born and reared in this county and has always lived here. For years he figured conspicuously in public life of the city and county, and no man who ever held public office here is more popular with the rank and file of the people. Big hearted, practical and affable, but stern and exacting in the discharge of duty, when the occasion requires, he would make an ideal sergeant-at-arms. And many are there who would be delighted to see him secure the appointment.

Mr. King stated that he is opposed by some three or four others for the same position. The position is to be filled immediately upon the convening of the Legislature, which will be on Tuesday.
